SISKIYOU COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

A scene such as this on the opposite page, common throughout the County up to filty years ago is rare today. It shows Mr. John An gren of the Salmon River country leaving Salwers Bar with supplies for one of the mines. Mr. Ahigren whose home is at the mouth of Little North Fork, ran a pack train in this area for many years and is sto as a able for packing fishermen, hunters and recreationists into the back country.

Bigelow family for more than fitty years. It is the birthplace of Tom and Edwin Bigelow, Mary Smith of Ethalai a Alice Anderson of McCloud. The original portion of this structive which had alded the porch on the far side, was erected more than 100 years ago.

The house in the background is the old Behnke home and is also more than 100 years in age.

The Sisk you County Historical Society be leves that these links with the past should be given every safeguard that they may be preserved and continue to remind future generations of the pioneer who made it possible for us to live in peace and prosperity in our beautiful Siskiyou homeland.

SENIOR CLASS

The Class of 1955 has had a busy four years. With Mrs. Loudon as the Freshman advisor and with Ray McGowan as the class president, the Freshmen held a "Freshmen Reception Day" and later gave a successful assembly.

The Sophomore year saw the class, under the leadership of Mr. Home and Buddy Gossner, presenting the February "Sweetheart Swirt".

As Juniors, the students gave a successful class play, "I Remember Mama" and a Junior Prom, "The Mardi Gras". In that year the class was inspired by the advisor, Mr. Pueyo, and the class president, Dave Hitchcock

The big events that were born out of the Senior year were the Senior Ball, held in December with "Silver Bells" as the theme, and the Senior Play, "Headed for Eden," given in May. Mr. Loudon was the Senior advisor and Bill Jeter was the class president.

Football, 1954

Boy, are we proud of our football team this year! Nine games and no defeats! For the first time in tour years our boys have gone out and proved to the public that they indeed had some talent on the grid ron.

Small wonder that football is one of our most popular year around activities. For what stout heart has not quickened in face of bitter contest or possible defeat? And what feminine heart has not fluttered at the sight of the "star" athlete nonchal antly sporting his block "Y" and his key chain loaded with various awards?

We throng to games and cheer heartily as we watch Yreka chalk up another victory; or if Yreka goes down before a stronger foe, we acclaim the winners and shout encouragingly to our own heroes. This is sportsmanship, and it's this sportsmanship that really puts over athletics and makes them such a success

As we see the parade of athletes that march by, or limp in some cases, we would like to send up a rousing cheer for those who go out for sports and glorify the slogan of good clean sportsmanship

Yreka high in the past has been the master of the cinder track. This year we are planning on again living up to our reputation by "cinching" all of the three divisions.

Approximately 60 students are out for track, and they are devoting most of their spare time becoming experts in the track and field events. So far, no one student appears to be a standout but before the season is over perhaps we may have a few. Determination and Mr. Lou Robinson are going to make sure that Yreka High School is well represented in the finals. The finals for the Siskiyou schools are going to be held on our field.

WHAT IS A HERO

by DIANE HALEY

The dictionary defines a hero as a demigod, a man of distinguished moral or physical courage. The army defines a hero as one who acts above and beyond the call of duty. But whatever the describing words, a hero is a person of utmost character and integrity

A child has many heroes, the knight in shining armor, the pirate, the cowboy, the soldier, the policeman, the baseball star, the movie idol. As we grow older, we think of a hero as one who performs some act of courage to save the life of a fellow

A hero is all of these, but there is still another type: the man who is first in his chosen field, the man who has the courage to progress, the man who through some perhaps small deed makes his world a better place in which to live. In everyday life we have many heroes who lead the way: teachers, ministers, your city councilmen, the politician, the governor of your state, the president. But there is yet a greater hero—the pioneer

As we cross through the door of a new age—the atomic age we find many such heroes going forward into countless new fields of discovery. There are the doctors who discovered new drugs to fight cancer or paid, the scientists who promote new theatres of world and space, the engineers who build bigger and faster simplanes, massive akyscrapers and powerful machines, the explorers who climb the highest mountain, chart the depths of the sea and fly jets faster than sound, the statesmen, who devote all effort to world peace and equality. Today we know more about our universe than has ever been known before and there is still much more to learn

The ordinary man can be just as much a hero by learning to live in harmony with other people. He must give positive thinking to world affairs and be active as a citizen. It behooves him to care about his future and that of his children, to make his community, his country, and his world more enjoyable to live in. This can be done only through love, tolerance, and understanding

In the roll call of heroes there is always "room for one more!" How many outstanding persons of character and integrity will our generation produce? Or better yet, are you a hero?

A GOOD MYSTERY

by JUDY BOWER

Who durn t? This is the question that a million different authors have enswered in a million different ways. By putting their imaginations to work, these men and women have created an uncountable number of mystery stories. Basically they are all the same: a crime is committed and then solved. The difference is the manner in which it is told. Edgar Alien Poe's mystery stories are far different from those of Agetha Christie, but people still enjoy both types.

A good mystery must have a title which catches the eye of a reader. Many good mystery stories are left to collect dust on the shelf because of a drab title. If the title alone is enough to arouse the reader's curiosity, then any well-written story should be a success. But don't let the curiosity die with the title

Like the introduction to a composition, the first few pages of the mystery story should be original and interesting. The first battle of writing a successful story is won when the author has written a beginning that catches the fancy of the reader. The first few pages should give hints of better things to come. Beautiful and ruthless

Sylvia has a feeble aunt who happens to own quite an estate. In the opening chapter of the book, the readers should be made to realize that Sylvia intends to do something about the situation. Then they will read on.

The most important part of a story is the plot, especially in a mystery. The author should have each step planned ahead. It is essential for a mystery story to be well-organized. If an author leaves numerous questions to be answered without planning how to answer them, he is most likely to become a nervous wreck before figuring his own solution. The plot should be puzzling to the reader, for every human being has a desire to be able to detect the faults of a perfect crime. The characters should be as life-like as possible so that the reader can imagine himself to be a good friend of the poor victim. The occurrences, too, should be realistic.

After having completely confused the reader, the author who shows a surprising yet simple solution will satisfy both the public and the publishers. The ending should be absolutely complete and no questions should be left unanswered.

WHY I SHOULD LIKE TO SEE THE UNITED NATIONS IN ACTION

by MARGE ALLEN

(find it hard to give only one or two reasons why I would like to see the United Nations in action, but I will do my best to explain clearly why I, as a student, would consider it a privilege to have such an opportunity

In the United States we are taught very little about other nations. If a person visited the United Nations, he might learn more about how people of other nations act and dress.

In any foreign country there are purposes and ideals. The people fit into a certain pattern of living. They all believe in some sort of government, whether it be democratic or totalitarian. Behind each particular belief he particular reasons for that belief. Visiting the United Nations would help me understand the individual differences of other nations.

As I understand it, the United Nations was designed to keep world peace and to keep large countries from over-funning smaller ones. Most people know very little about how the United Nations is run and how it attempts to accomplish world peace. It would be good for every individual to learn more about how these meetings are conducted

Many people look with a critical eye at other nations when they disagree with something we think is right. Not every nation is right all of the time, not even our wonderful United States. We need a better understanding of how other nations feel on matters that are discussed in the meetings of the United Nations.

Few people in the United States realize how lucky we are to live in this land of opportunity and freedom, while people of many other countries live in oppression, hunger, and fear. We can't realize how it would be to live in any country but the United States. Seeing the United Nations work would help us appreciate our United States and understand the other nations of the world.

I feel that seeing the United Nations in action would help any individual become a better citizen and would help him make the United States a better place in which to live.

THE WORLD OF POETRY

by JERRY DOWELL

"How a person can stand poetry is beyond me; it is so silly, and of the time it doesn't even make sense. Anybody who reads the stuff' is a snob."

Quite often one hears these and similar profests against poetry.

To people who make them are usually somewhat narrow minded and as a rule do not think too deeply. They exercise what is known as "negative thinking"; that is, they decide that poetry is dull and foolish before even making an honest attempt to understand and appreciate it. This "defeatist" attitude must be overcome before poetry can be read and enjoyed by those who district it. The only way this butlook can be overcome is by desiring and trying to learn to appreciate poetry.

One reason why many persons do not try to understand poetry is because they think that only "high brows" read verse. They believe that poetry cannot be enjoyed by them, the common people. This outlook is certainly very false. Benefits can be derived from poetry by any person, rich or poor.

I can truly say that I enjoy postry immensely. I have learned to dig more than skindeep in to a verse and delve out the meaning and beauty of it. For me, the main content of poetry is simply its power of expression and feeling beyond that of prose. Poetry creates in my mind a vivid picture of the scene the author was trying to paint in words. It is present in all five senses: sight, touch taste, small, and hearing. The emotions are present too, and everycombines to form a wonderful sensation. I like very much to analyze verse and try to discover what creates the impressions and moods. Invariably these impressions and moods are set by the expert use of metaphors and rich descriptive words. If one lets these beautiful words and phrases caress his mind and appeal to his senses of balance and beauty, he will quickly become a reader of poetry. When heavy troubles cloud my mind, I often turn to poetry and let them be swept away by lines which seem to possess magical qualities. Relieving a troubled mind is but one of the virtues of Among the others are instigating a greater appreciation of the beauties of the world end enriching the mind of the reader with bits of wisdom to be used in time of need

It is quite foolish for the common person to believe that poetry holds nothing for him. The world of poetry is a wonderland, open to anyone who can meet the requirements; that is, an open mind and a sense of beauty, however slight. It is quite easy to become an addict to poetry, and a wonderful addiction it is!

AN ABANDONED HOUSE

by ED ROBINSON

Nestled among wooded hills and standing ghostly on a sea of odding grass, is a skeleton, a monument of human life, an abanoned house

Human life and laughter no longer remain, but a memory will ntil the house decomposes. The house was once a place of comfort, will of freshly sawed boards. Boards are now missing here and nere leaving gaps like toothless snears. The building leans to and ro creaking in the sharp wind, leaving the impression of a rocking heir rocking a memory to sleep.

At one time a friendly atmosphere hung over the house, and heerful sounds floated out. The sounds now are like the big oak tess' branches rubbing on the roof in the wind. A broken chair and small toy show that there must have been a family living here at no time. Now the house that once sheltered a family is weathered and useless.

Inside the house there seems to be a little life because across the still scamper several rats making such a noise that they might make no start of a wild ghost story. Here and there a bat hangs on the ralls undisturbed by the dusty, misty surroundings

The most recent dates on some magazines show that this house just have been unoccupied for approximately fifteen years. When house was left vacant, it started to age as an old man, told that he was of no more use. Fifteen years of driving rain, embitious wind, the crushing weight of snows, and a scorching sun have left their marks of age on the house.

A sharp being made by a shutter swinging in the wind seamed almost too loud to have been made by an article as shattered as it was. Every window around the house has been broken by people and banging shutters. On the kitchen window sill, two coffee cans with diff in them show that once there were plants in the windows. On the wells, three different layers of well peper hang in shreds but still show the different occupants' pattern and color tastes. The point on the kitchen drain board has bleeched almost white through the years. The place has two stoves, one in the kitchen and one in the living room. Altogether the house has six rooms as follows three bedrooms, a kitchen, a living room and a pantry. In one bedroom, a wood ret made a home in an old cabinet. On the floor three pairs of shoes of verious sizes lay. The shoes' toes were curled up and the leather very hard.

Outside, the shrubbery remains have gone wild in a mass of tangled vines. Two rose bushes seem to be healthy although no one has tended them, and the growth has followed no set pattern.

In all it takes only two words to describe this, an "Abandoned House"

CLISS STORIES

Junior Journal

We, the class of '56, being well acquainted with the high school routine, jumped right into the middle of activities. Many of our classmates are out for sports, and we hold our own on the more serious side also, contributing members to the CSF, honor roll, Student Council, the Log and the White and Gold staffs, and yell leaders. These activities, as well as our Junior Prom, Junior Play, and Junior-Senior Banquet are under the expert direction of our advisors, Mr. Ray and Mrs. Ahlstrom. We hope in our coming year to be even more successful than we have been in the past.

Sophomore Saga

Sophomores, nearly all (saint and sinner) did rise to

Occasions when, duty told us 't would be tactful and wise to Prepare assignments, curricular and extra, to heap

High honors and glory on our school and high standards keep.

Our scholarship average well shows that we surely are Making marvelous progress in classes—to take us afar.

On committees for assemblies and parties and dances you'd find us

Ready to plan and to work without flurry or fuss.

Efficient, punctual, and able, we're proud of our name;

Successful achievement will bring us honor and fame.

Freshmen Fable

Our class, the Class of '58, is one of the larger ones, having forty-six members. During the school year we carried on various activities which have kept us constantly underfoot. We have members in the band, the chorus, the pep club, the basketball teams and in almost all the other school activities. Many promising athletes turned out for sports.

After we amused the student body with the initiation ordeal, we enjoyed the party given to us by the Sophomores, and we gave one in return. Our class officers who led us through our green year are as follows: President, Marian Palmer; Vice-President, Jim Franklin; Secretary, Rosa Smith; and Treasurer, Paula Friday.

DRILL TEAM

The Drill Team is coming along very well, having gained experience last per a property of the second o ette Phyllis Ahlenstorf, marched in the McCloud Fiesta parade and won second place. They marched also at the Weed Italian Carnival, and there they took first place

By the end of the first semester this year the eighteen girls had each made new uniforms of purple pleated skirts and gold blouses with a purple M; and under the direction of Mr. Hicklin and Mrs. Ahlstrom and head majorette Phyllis Ahlenstorf, this second year of the drill team has continued to be a successful one

This year something different was added- new band uniforms. A committee made up of representatives from fown organizations that contributed to the band fund met with school officials, band representatives, and Mr. Hicklin to make the selection. The new uniforms are purple trimmed with gold. The band also formed a club with the following officers: president, Sonny Sterling; vicepresident, Dick Kite; secretary, Patsy Rafferty. One of the band club projects this year is the organization of a dance band. The group has enjoyed the wide variety of band music they learned, including some novelty numbers.

The football team this year made a very good showing, losing only one lead a game and taking sero of clace in the play lifts. Many times the boys jave the spectators a thrill by coming from behind and defeating their worthy and surprised opponents.

Next year our chances for a championship team should be excellent as we are losing only two of our first string outfit.

The scores for this school year were as follows:

	LEAGUE GAMES			PLAY-OFFS
Loggers		Opponents	Loggers		Opponents
38	Fort Jones	18	57	Fort Jones	20
28	Butte Valley	34	14	Butte Valley	47
14	Etna	14
36	Happy Camp	27

One of the largest turn-outs in recent years for the 1955 baseball varsity was on hand to greet Coach Don Kersten, who has taken over the Logger nine

On the baseball schedule, in addition to the eight league games, were Red Bluff, Lassen High, Shasta High at Redding and several other practice games

Among returning lettermen were Eugene Mason, Rudy Baiza, Bud Nobili, Eddie laconis, Marvin Toreson, Bob Paolinetti, Stanley Gill, Jim Herbert, and Bob Green, along with several prospects from the sophomore and freshmen classes

At present the team has the potential of being one of the outstanding in the past several years and should finish well up in the first division

TRACK

The track team this year, coached by Mr. Tomlinson, should be able to make a fine showing. The few returning lettermen, plus a few freshmen and sophomores should add strength to the McCloud cinder squad

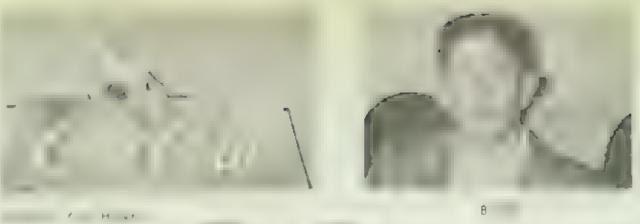

As we go to press, the track team plans to attend many triangular meets plus the county track meet

Those making a good showing at the county meet will continue to compete in larger track meets, such as Redding and possibly Chico

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

As I sit here looking around the Municipal Auditorium it brings back memories of twenty years ago. That was 1955! When the Mighty Seniors of Mount Shasta High graduated! And now, it is 1975—and we are having our twenty-year reunion. All of the graduating class are here with the exception of Lyle Vandemark and Katherine Griswold who were unable to attend on account of pressing big business deals at the multi-million dollar automobile factory that they have built up on the site of Rey's Service Station.

Sitting here trying to recognize my former classmates, I see a very tell person looking around above everybody, and I recognize him as Burton Newberry. He often has been called the tallest man ever to drive a midget racing car, and he has won world-wide fame for the daring and skill with which he drives.

And there, standing by himself for the moment, is the great Theodore "Teddy" Cottini who has made his fortune by starting a very extensive guide and hunting service in that rugged region around and on Quait Hill. People from all over the world come here to have Ted take them hunting.

From what I hear and see, Nola Graham and Ariene Bianchi, are doing very well, as you have probably heard. Nola owns a string of drug stores from the Canadian border to the tip of South America.

and Arlene is a very well-known nurse. In fact, she has revolutionized the nursing "racket". She puts them in the hospital and Nota fills them up with pills.

Aht There, just coming in, is frank Ball and John Colombero. They have just returned from a very successful football season. Although they don't play any more, they have built the Mott Maulers into an unbeatable team. They haven't been beaten in the last 11 years and have been the world's champs for the past 11 years.

Charles Ives, as usual, is the main attraction for he has world acclair as a top-comedian, and as his assistant or stooge, as they call them in the show world, is that favorite of all girls, Melvin Acord

Carol Asbell, as I understand, does not do anything at all, because she has already made her fortune in the ring as a woman wrestler. In her prime there wasn't a woman alive that could stay in the ring with her for more than 10 seconds.

Up on the stage is Victor Penserini, trying to solo for the girls. He has made quite a stir in the world with his band of trumpet players. They are called "The Loud Five-Plus One". The "Plus-One"—that's Victor, as I understand.

And there is a very quiet little man, standing by himself, just thinking of his trees. It is Jim Montgomery, who, as everyone knows tong-Bell Lumber Company and McCloud River Railroad Comcany just a year after he was graduated from high school. He comthem and named the corporation Long Mung, Inc.

In a group near me, laughing as usual, is the "Mistress of all the Loretta Gardner. I have learned that she has purchased the Life magazine, and renamed it, "Let's Live a Little".

Over in the far corner is Dawne Kihm practicing on his game of lennis. As everyone knows, Dawne is very well-known in all of the foreign countries, as well as in America, as the man to beat if you are going to get any place in that sport. His foreign friends just a mply won't play him any more, and they call him Dawne "Never Lose" Kihm

Off to my right is that very quiet, but not too shy, Meta McNeil Standing with her is Lorraine Ceccato, in her ever-happy little way. As I understand it, Lorraine and Meta have become renowned as a song and dence team. They have made so much money with their act that they will only perform for the President or foreign royalty. They say, "Let us show ourselves to nobody."

Coming towards me are those two who were always "making good times better," Don Hilton and Bob Withers. Don has done very well for himself as a foreign diplomat to Siberia. He sure has revolutionized things. Instead of the Russians drinking Vodka, now they drink milk.

And 8ob, well, he finally made good by starting an institution, where great intellectuals seek higher learning.

Here, sitting right along side of me is that very beautiful Shelda Wheeler. She has won herself fame as a model. It has been said that she has been paid as much as $500 a minute to model her own garment, (which I forgot to say, her own company makes), padal-pushers. If you went a pair of pedal-pushers, just see Shelda

As I am trying to locate other persons that I may recognize, I see Peter Chinca and George Winkelman, over by the refreshment rand, inspecting the sode water. As everybody knows, they are known the world-over for their chain of sode fountains. When they finished high school their fathers turned the only one they had over to them. It was in Mount Shaste, and was known as the Veterans' Fountain. They have now built it into a billion dollar corporation of chain sode fountains.

I have just seen Jackie Kenster and Carol Dick and Frances Slover entering the auditorium, with their families and I must say they are a very nice-looking group. I understand all three are still happily married and husbands are doing very well.

There stands our former Student Body President, Philip Huntingdon. I have read in the papers that he is Commander in Chief of the Far Eastern Naval Division. He is also planning to run for President next election year. Phil, as I always thought, was a "die-hard" Army man, but I guess he finally saw that the Navy had the best deal

And there is that little man with the big voice, Glenn Poe. He has been playing football with the Mott Maulers. His rivals call nim Glenn "The Phantom" Poe. As I understand, John and Frank are thinking of letting him buy into their club, in the next 5 or 10 years, but his services at that fullback position are hard to beat. He tears through the opposing lines for 80 and 90 yards at a time.

Ahl At last! There is Ted 'The Ripper is rya toking over 'os with an Asbo is scelled on a rip winster in has who yet is a sit the Helias ones in section with sell of a sit of his anger to siard only ones.

Sitting nearby is John Hall. John, as usual, is his same old self, as I can see. When he graduated from high school, he had a tob waiting for him on the Globe Trotters. He has now risen to be one of the Globe Trotters' greatest stars. I hear that John is getting a fabulous $200,000 a year for playing for the Trotters.

And there, standing with a group of people is the greatest of all typing critics, Don "Never Miss An Error" Thunborg. He credits all he knows in that field to that grand young ledy, Mrs. Floratos. Even in high school Don sure was a terror when it came to grading papers

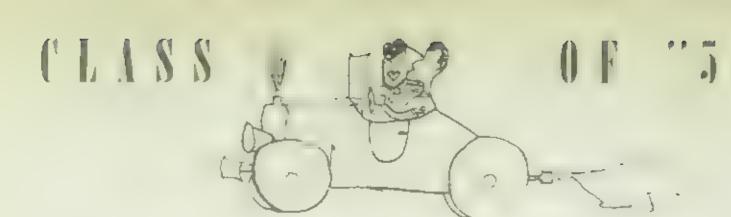

Oh! And as I can see, Sandy Tracy has not changed a bit. She is still just as beautiful as ever. I understand she finally did marry John Lamanna, but, not until she had saved quite a chunk of money from when she was modeling. I read in the papers at the time that she had studios fighting over her to model Bikini swimming suits. But, as ever, persistence always wins, and I must say that John Lamanna sure had persistence. He finally got the kild with the curves.

So, it looks as the' I have covered just about everyone in the graduating class. I will close. OH! OH! I think I see a couple of bright, shining objects in the far distant corner. They seem to appear as a pair of extremely bald heads. As I peer more closely through that glare, I make them out to be Louis Capifoni and Bob Calkins. They look very prosperous, so I can only guess as to what has happened in the last 20 years. As I have heard, when Bob and louis started out to make their fortune, they started South in Bob's '35 pick-up. But, they only got as far as Delta when the heat took its toll. So from there they walked to L.A. where they started a "reel cool" customizing shop, but since their hearts were not in it, they sold out and started a Beauty Parlor. FOR WOMEN ONLY!!! Now, these boys were in the right field of work and really starting to make that old "folding green"! Soon they started branching out and now are controlling all of the beauty parlors in the Western Hemisphere. They must be quite successful. But, what I cen't understand is, why the persons who ere supposed to be really pros at making people keep their hair to a ripe old age, are always the ones with the bright and glaring bald pates, and these boys really have a lot of face to wash.

And there is that silent lad who took over Teichert and Co. and renamed it Bauer and Corporation. It is now the biggest contracting company in the world. When you want something done all you have to do is let "Griss" know and it's done.

As usual the sitent types are always the ones who are the most successful.

Now, as the night grows old, we all begin to realize that we are not as young as we used to be. And now, everyone is starting to drift toward the stage from where I can hear the faint beginning of the school song. And, growing louder in volume are those old stirring words that we shall never forget. As we all start to leave I stop for a moment to look around. I can only hope that nothing will happen to any of these great persons—nothing that might make them unable to attend our next reunion.

Review of Year's Sports

The 1954 Tulelake basketball squads went to two tournaments last year. The A's placed second at the Fall River Tournament and first at the Lassen Tournament in Susanville. The B's took second place at Lassen. The A's finished in the county league as co-champions.

The '55 hoopsters look as if they may finish with another good year. The A's have won 12 and lost 4 with the B's holding a 6 win, 9 loss record to date. The D team won 6 and lost 2 in the county league while the C's finished with 2 wins and 6 losses.

The Honkers had an average football season this year. They won their first and last games over Merrill and the Klamath Wildcats, tied with Fall River in a scoreless game, and lost to Mt. Shasta, Malin, and Alturas

The '54 baseball season was quite short due to the small amount of good weather.

Last year's Siskiyou County Track Meet was held here May 8 Fritz Anthes, Carl Creswell, and Bill Stephens placed 2nd in the A mile, 1st in the B 440, 1st in the B 880, respectively, at the Chico meet.

Bill Stephens was the winner of the Turkey Trot this year. He ran 3 miles in 17 minutes, 33 seconds, and was followed closely all the way by Steve Rudesill, who took second What's new in newspapers . . .

Today's newspaper has many duties toward its readers.

It should bring them complete records of the important news of the day -using all the most modern newsgathering facilities available.

It should also be a lively, entertaining and readable source of information on the variety of subjects of interest to its different readers -- on politics, finance, women's activities, humor, sports.

The San Francisco Examiner is in step with the times.

It is a newspaper that is really complete, in the most modern sense -- combining alertness with thoroughness to bring you the most reliable and up-tothe-minute document of today's history!
